Thanks for the update Adam. I would agree there are lots of factors which can effect this between now and Saturday.

Subject: NS/NB Border Protest February 12

Hi All,

I was just on yet another meeting with the RCMP as there is a possible protest at the NS/NB Border on Saturday February 12. Current information states there will be a couple different groups throughout the day. There will be another meeting this week that I will attend and provide an update.

My suggestion would be lets not hit the panic buttons yet and see what further information presents itself in the next day or two and what further information the RCMP can provide. I will update after that meeting Tentatively Thursday.

Regardless from a Public Works standpoint we will have message boards available and myself and on duty supervisor will attend any RCMP briefing Saturday morning as we have for the previous protests.

If you have questions let me know.

Thanks,

Adam
